AtkinChambersBarristers

Atkin Chambers is a leading set of chambers specialising in various aspects of commercial law. It is particularly well known for its advocacy and advice on cases concerning domestic and international construction and engineering contracts and projects. However, along with this wide area of practice it has developed extensive expertise and experience in areas such as information technology, insurance, oil and gas, professional negligence, dry shipping and general commercial law. The quality and strength of chambers across a number of fields and the international character of its work have recently been recognised by it becoming the first chambers in the United Kingdom to be granted a Queen's Award for Enterprise in the international trade category.

Carmelite Chambers is one of the largest and longest established criminal sets in the UK. Our advocates are at the forefront of UK and international practice and are regularly instructed in high profile cases.

For 25 years we have thrived under the continuous leadership of Richard Ferguson QC, one of the most formidable advocates in the UK. During this time chambers has grown in numbers and prestige and now consists of 72 members of chambers including 11 QC's. The set was one of the first chambers to be awarded the prestigious Quality Mark, the Bar's independent "kitemark" for excellence and good practice management. Our premises have been fully refurbished in order to offer an innovative working environment that includes the latest technology and conference facilities. Chambers was the first criminal set to offer in-house video conferencing facilities linking chambers to 62 major prisons.

W: www.portsmouthbar.com

These chambers were founded by Andrew Parsons in 1990.

Andrew is an experienced barrister, mediator and arbitrator. Prior to practising at the Bar he worked as a money and corporate finance broker in the City of London. He has a purely civil practice. He has for many years been committed to the use of Alternative Dispute Resolution processes such as mediation as a more sensible and civilised way to resolve disputes. He sits on the ADR Committee of the Bar Council and on the Committee of the Southern Branch of the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators. His work essentially concerns Business, Commerce, Family Finance, Personal Injury, Professional Negligence and Property.

In real life, cases do not fit into neat categories. Nor do the means of resolving them. A key advantage to instructing Andrew is that he is versatile, having experience and expertise in overlapping categories of work, not only in litigation but also in mediation and arbitration.

Although based in Portsmouth on the South Coast, Andrew travels widely to undertake his work. For example, he has conducted conferences and appeared at court hearings or mediation meetings in Birmingham, Bristol, Cardiff, Cheltenham, Exeter, Leeds, London, Maidstone, Manchester, Oxford, Preston and Stoke-on-Trent. The fact that a case involves parties, Solicitors and/or other representatives who are nowhere near Portsmouth or the South Coast is therefore not a problem.

For more information, please call Jackie Morrison on 023 8283 1292 or 07970 779671 – or email us at clerks@portsmouthbar.com.

Criminal advocates

At Zenith Chambers we are strengthening our Crime Team to manage an expanding workload, and we have two vacancies:

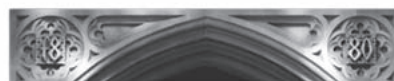

- Senior advocate – a barrister of 8-10 years call – or a Solicitor with Higher Rights, who wishes to transfer to the Bar.
- Junior of up to 2 years call, already specialising in crime.
